Incarnists are manipulators, controllers, and crooks of the most powerful kind: reality thieves. They forcibly inject a pirated emulation of the exterior planes upon existence, directing the shape of everything around them with an alien nature. Incarnists can focus on multiple aspects of this theft, from mass destruction to the peaceful intrusion of divine calm.

As an incarnist, the first significant choice that you need to make is the source of your power, your planar origins that you kindly borrow from. Weaker incarnists are not capable of wrestling this power from more than any two planes and the choice limits their capabilities nigh-forevermore. Once chosen, these origins shape and define the incarnist, warping their perception as well as how those perceive them. Though exceptions can be made. What is more comforting than beastly, tentacled, avengers of good, after all?

Shall you lead your planes in order to strike fear in to the hearts of the evil around you, at times – literally. Will you rest peace to a falling kingdom with a soothing lake of fire? Or perhaps neither and rule them all with evangelical superiority. These, and more, are the choices in store for true incarnists.

INCARNIST OVERVIEW

Characteristics: Incarnists are intended for close battle manipulation, adjusting the power of allies, and striking at groups enemies. Most of their powers are in some form utilitarian, especially at higher levels, with the intent of either taking advantage of or setting up unique opportunities.

Religion: Incarnists have a broad range of possible gods to support. Depending on their planar origins, incarnists can find inspiration in almost any divine direction.

Races: The role of incarnists tend to attract outsiders as well as the more versatile races. Half-elves, humans, and tieflings all make suitable incarnists.

BUILDING AN INCARNIST

{Section empty until further update}

INCARNIST CLASS FEATURES

All Incarnists have these class features.

PLANAR KNOWLEDGE

Incarnists have an inherent understanding of their planar origins (see planar origin class feature). This intuition provides them with a +5 bonus to all knowledge checks concerning their chosen planar origins as well as the creatures from those planes.

PLANAR JAUNT

Incarnists can toss allies momentarily in to their chosen planes, protecting and empowering that ally with planar energy. You gain the planar jaunt power.

PLANAR ORIGIN

Incarnists pull much of their power from the planes, melding their very existence on to those around them. Each meld steals from a different source, emulating anything from simple objects to creatures born of the planes they focus.

Incarnists must choose two planar origins of which their powers draw the most influence from. Each planar origin comes with a choice of an at-will power and a passive class feature. Further, each origin has an attached aspect. The aspect includes the attributes defined by your origin, and when referred to in a power entry, uses the highest of those attributes. The available planar origins are as follows:

CELESTIA

You meld the defensive powers of celestia through your surroundings, weaving divine protections among your allies and holy vengeance within your enemies. The celestia planar origin uses charisma primarily.

At-Will Attack Power: You gain either the divine wind or mark of purity power.

Aspect: You can use Charisma as an aspect.

ELEMENTAL

You meld the chaotic powers of the elementals through your surroundings, shaping destruction among all things around you. The elemental planar origin uses constitution primarily.

At-Will Attack Power: You gain either the heedless hailstone or storming meteor power.

Aspect: You can use Constitution as an aspect.

HELL

You meld the corrupting powers of hell through your surroundings, placing unholy tortures upon your enemies and a veil of deceit among your allies. The hell planar origin uses strength primarily.

At-Will Attack Power: You gain the either the agony barbs or the soul's chains power.

Aspect: You can use Strength as an aspect.

SHADOWFELL

You meld gloom and death from the shadowfell into your surroundings, wrapping your allies in decrepit barriers and your enemies in putrefaction. The shadowfell planar origin uses wisdom primarily.

At-Will Attack Power: You gain either the decrepit touch or shadow convulsion power.

Aspect: You can use Wisdom as an aspect.

POWER BONDED

Incarnists do not rely on items to channel and control their power, rather, they prefer to harness their own juggling of the planes through sheer force. Overcoming these limitations leaves them at a loss for specialized weaponry, however, it does give them a notable benefit when even stripped bear.

You gain a +1 bonus to attack rolls with all planar keyword powers. This bonus increases to +2 at level 5, +3 at level 9, +4 at level 13, +5 at level 17, +6 at level 21, +7 at level 25, and +8 at level 29.

KEYWORDS

Incarnists use new keywords for their powers.

PLANAR

Planar powers apply effects that either transfer energy from or emulate things on other planes. They do not have a noticeable effect on the planes they take from or from the inhabitants of those planes.

DUAL SUSTAIN

When a power with the dual sustain keyword allows you to sustain its effects, you may sustain another current power that shares the dual sustain keyword with that same action.

INCARNIST POWERS

Incarnist powers are called melds. Incarnist pull an emulation of the planes in to the battle, melding it into current existence.

CLASS FEATURES

All Incarnists have the planar jaunt power, given as a class feature.

Planar Jaunt
